

1. Design Choices

I chose a dark theme design since dark themed platforms appeal visually to me. I also added a touch of Torch Red to blend in with the black and white theme.

2. Challenges faced

Some of the challenges I faced included:

Defining my focus - It was challenging to decide what kind of work I wanted to showcase in my portfolio. I decided to post my best projects which I picked with the help of friends.

Technical challenges - I had issues when writing my code since at times the code would not run. I also had issues when I was trying to host the portfolio using Netlify. I was able to follow through tutorials on how to resolve my errors and also sought assistance from my friends with experience in the tech field.

Balancing between Quality and Quantity - It was hard to choose between showcasing most of my projects or just a few. I decided it was important to strike a balance between showcasing enough of my projects to demonstrate my skills and also not overwhelming my audience with too much content.

Keeping it up-to-date - As I create new work and gain more experience, I need to keep my portfolio updated but finding the time to regularly update the portfolio is challenging. I settled on updating my portfolio once every year.
